Maneesha Recommends . . .

A sense of foreboding grips you from page one. A murder has been committed in a tiny Columbian town. We know the victim, the perpetrators, the motive . . . and yet the novella throbs with suspense. No attempt is made to investigate the crime as an unnamed narrator traces the events 27 years later. There's nothing conventional about this book, but then there's nothing conventional about the author. "Chronicle of a Death Foretold" is a chronicle of a genius at work. Visit our literary section for more books by the master of Magic Realism—Nobel Prize winner, Gabriel Garcia Marquez—or download his books from OverDrive, at any time from anywhere.

Libraries today have moved far beyond book storage to become centers of information, technology and learning that support educational and economic opportunity for all our residents. PA Library Association's 21st Century Literacies Initiative, PA Forward, brings these literacies to our attention in a very focused way. Upper St. Clair Township Library is actively engaged in supporting this program and the five literacies. Look for the PA Forward branding on our programs and services demonstrating our commitment to a larger statewide initiative that is powering progress and elevating the quality of life in Pennsylvania! We have a shared vision of helping residents succeed as citizens, parents, students, employers, employees and consumers.

New! Merlin Magnifier

The library thanks a generous resident for her gift of a 22" Merlin Enhanced Vision Magnifier and task chair. This desktop magnifier offers enhanced magnification and a large crisp clear picture so you can easily read books or magazines, view photos, do crossword puzzles, and more. Stop in the library and try it out!

The Friends of the Library collects books the first Saturday of every month from 10am to noon. You can also bring books to the library during open hours. No encyclopedias or magazines, please.
